BRITAIN GIVES NEW PLEDGE ON MAILS

Promises to Examine All Seized Neutral Correspondence in a Five-Day Period:

LONDON, June 17 .- Sir Maurice de LONDON, June 17.—Sir Maurice de Bunsen, under secretary of the foreign office and formerly British ambassador at Vienna, made the following statement yesterday regarding the American note protesting against the interference with neutral mails which was forwarded to the French and Hritish governments May 24.

The note is being examined by the British and French governments in consultation. The views of the French government have not yet been received in London, therefore it is impossible to make any public pronouncement upon the contents of the note.

impessible to make any public pronouncement upon the contents of the nets.

"Meanwhile, it may be pointed out that the United States lays special stress on the necessity for expedition in dealing with neutral mails to occasion a minimum delay and to avoid inconvenience to American interests. This point in the memorandum was communicated to the United States ambassador here April 14, explaining that the postal censors had perfected the erganisation of a separate department to deal with such mails, and in view of this improved organization it is possible to assure the Government of the United States that in the absence of wholly exceptional circumstances the total delay caused to ordinary correspondence of neutrals from the time the mails were unloaded from the ships carrying them to the time they were delivered by the cemors to the British postoffice for transmission to their destination would not in the future be more than three to five days.

The British government have not sen content with this mere assurance been content with this mere assurance, but every day are attempting still further to perfect the organization of censorship and they believe that in the future American citizens will have less and less cause to complain of delays in the passage of their correspondence to neutral European countries.

"The British government wish particularly to emphasize a readiness to receive from American citizens inquiries regarding any particular delayed or missing letter, together with particulars, such as the date of the sailing of the ship on which the mails were carried, and in the case of registered letters the registered number on the package, in order that they may inquire into each case thoroughly and immediately avert misunderstandings and detect lapses in the organization where such have occurred.

Enormous Task Faced.

Enormous Task Faced. "They wish it realized in America what an enormous organization is needed to deal with the thousands of mail bags in a few hours and the extent of success already achieved in dealing expeditiously with all this mass of cor-peditiously with all this mass of correspondence.

"The American note embodies various difficult legal arguments, and in fact it takes the allied governments some time to examine them and consult together. The answer does not in the least affect the energy with which the British government are attempting to meet the practical needs of the situation in a businesslike spirit by perfecting their organization and thus preventing hardships to neutrals resulting from the application of principles."

"It the present crisis it sees no reason for doing anything that might plunge our country into the ruin which is only too evident in the European nations.

"Had President Wilson warned Americans to keep off vessels of belligerents as Sweden had done, and as England had done Juring the Japanese-Russo war the crisis in our international relations would never have arisen."

Messages were received from Allen Louis Benson, of Yonkers, N. Y., the party's candidate for President, and from the Vice President nominee, George R. Kirkpatrick, of Newark, N.J. They were nominated by a referendum vote the latter part of March, Both endorsed an anti-militarism platform.
